What is the source of the personal data?

When you register interest through our webform, webchat, email, social media channels, enquiry phone line, attend an event such as a campus tour, webinar, Open Day, Discovery Day, UCAS Fair or HE Fair or have any other touch-point with us we collect your information.

Why we are collecting your personal data

This information is gathered so we may better answer your enquiry, send you information relevant to your subject area of interest or events you have registered to attend and for the management and administration of events.

If you are a Student Ambassador, we collect your personal data for the management and administration of your job role.

If you are attending an open day or discovery day, you may have the option to join a virtual queue to view our show accommodation. A phone number must be entered to use this optional service provided by Qmatic.

How we are going to use your personal data

Unless you have requested otherwise, the University may use your information a range of communications and marketing activities with you (by email, mail, telephone, social media or text message), including distribution of publications, the promotion of benefits and services, notification of events, for programmes involving academic and administrative departments and surveys.

Tools may be used to monitor the effectiveness of our communications with you, including email tracking, which records when an email from us is opened and/or how many links are clicked within the message. The data from this tracking are generally used in an anonymised form.

For Ambassador management we will use your data in the management of your role and to enrol you onto training programmes.

If you are joining one of our webinars, we use a platform called WorkCast. In order to use the 'ask a question' function on the WorkCast platform, all attendees are required to provide an email address before entering the webinar auditorium. The email address you enter will be stored on WorkCast cloud servers. No reference will be made to the email addresses or personal information in the webinars and as such, recordings will not include this information.

If you are attending an open day or discovery day, you may have the option to join a virtual queue to view our show accommodation. A name and phone number must be entered to use this optional service provided by Qmatic. The telephone number you enter will be used to manage and administer the virtual queue. Your data will be deleted at the end of the event.
